SALVATION DRIVE BEGINS WITH RUSH

Some Cities Already Over the Top, and People Elsewhere Give Generously.

Vincent Astor and Jeff Davis. King of the Hoboes; society women and lasees from the Bowery; bankers and tramps; actors and clergymen and in-numerable other elements combined to boost the campaign in various ways. boost the campaign in various ways.

rise and in checks for thousands of dollars. One woman left her check for $5,000 with Mrs. F. Gray Griswold. chairman of the New York City Committee, with a request that her name mittee, with a request that her name be kept secret.

While Jeff Davis and his party of hoboes were catching dollar bills thrown to them by the Fifth avenue crowds, and were turning them over to the Salvation Army girls who accompanied them, Mrs. J. Borden Harriman was auctioning doughnuts from the steps of the Sub-Treasury, and the New York Stock Exchange was issuing an appeal to its members to have its full quota of $50,000 filled by to-morrow morning.

One Woman Collects $1,100.

At the Fund headquarters, 680 Fifth avenue, it was said that one woman had collected $1.100 in two hours, while many had raised hundreds by passing the pasteboard contribution boxes on the fashionable thoroughfare. There were in all three thousand of such workers about town, and their efforts were being supplemented by thousands of outsiders who volunteered assistance.

Among the latter class soldiers were nost active, and wherever one of the numercus street meetings was being held to boost the fund, some overseas men in uniform would manage to push their way through the crowd to aid the speakers and to set an example for the crowd by contributing themselves.

At the Argonne Forest Theatre in Times Square David Brody, a private in Company B. $10th Machine Gun Battalich, climbed on the platform from which Mrs. E. L. Nulsen was speaking and told the ground that he had always. and told the crowd that he had given two months pay, amounting to $68, to the fund. He announced that he wanted o see the crowd equal the amount and the sum was raised in two minutes.

At the Pennsylvania Station many wounded soldiers pushed their way into the meeting held by Mrs. Cornelius Bliss, Jr., and told the crowd of the work done for them overseas by the Salvation

Another effective method was en procedure of his court to pass the hat for the fund. He started the contribuployed by City Magistrate Doyle Queens Borough, when he interrup tions with a yellowback and court at-tendants, policemen, lawyers and spec-tators, joined in helping the good cause.

When the Magistrate discharged a Manhattanite who had been arrested for obstructing traffic because his motor had pened to stall the man asked what ine would have been imposed had he seen found guilty.

"Five dollars," said the Magistrate.
"Here it is," said the automobilist, dropping a bank note on the pile of

Other appeals were made in railway stations, subway trains, hotels and practically every place where crowds col-lected. All of the theatres in town threw open their doors to the campaigners and many actors made brief addresses from the stage on the merita-of the drive. Music publishers sent their singers about town to help in the entertainment at the various rallies.

Among the many places to overdonate their quotas are Detroit, which has conan hour; Brattlesboro, Vt. which did it in two hours; Kingston, N. Y., which equalled Lebanon's record, and Madison county. Miss, with a similar accom-

"I have no words to express the prod gratitude and appreciation of the Salvation Army for the overwhelming response we are receiving from the public," she said. "It seems to all of us who have been in the movement for years that it is a rare privilege to re-ceive this unparalleled expression of public confidence. I offer the pledge of the Salvation Army that one year hence we will render an accounting to the people and ask their judgment on the people and ask their judgithe fund." Gen. Vanderbilt Lauds Army.

Brig.-Gen. Cornelius Vanderbilt, who is chairman of the New York campaign committee for the fund, was similarly impressed and remarked:

"None can doubt the firm and lasting place the Salvation Army occupies in the heart of the people of the city of New York. We all know what it did for our soldiers in France. We are just beginning to realise what it does for the army of unfortunates at home. The bazaar in the afternoon held in the same place was a mammoth success, with a millinery shop of hats made entirely by Mrs. Lawrence Townsend, assisted by a small coterie of society girls with skilful fingers. Doughnuts and coffee were made and served on the porch by Mrs. John Hays Hammond and the Salvation Army lassies who had served them to the men in the trenches.

Perl Hamilton, adopted daughter of Commander Booth, fried the dough-nuts, alternating with Mrs. Hammond in the afternoon. Cabinet girls, army Army.

The method employed by Jeff Davis entailed the use of an army motor truck which had been done over to represent a box car. In this truck the famous hobe toured Fifth avenue with his sonin-law wearing a naval uniform and with several of his tramp comrades and a party of Salvation Army women.

The rest of the bunch would pass tambourines and fill the familiar kettle with change and greenbacks, and then Jeff would tell the crowd how he went to room and read some verses written for her by Geo ge Cohan.
